Preface

Since it was founded in 1975, the Irish Biogeographical Society has amassed a large data-base on the flora and fauna of Ireland. In addition, important papers have been published on the plants and animals of other regions. Occasional Publication Number 8 is designed to facilitate access to this information. The Society is very grateful to the National Parks and Wildlife Services of the Department of the Environment for its sponsorship.

This year, the Society also launched its own web-site. The Committee is indebted to Kevin O'Connor for its design and implementation.

Introduction

The Irish Biogeographical Society was founded in 1975. It encourages the study of Irish biodiversity especially the distribution of the plants and animals.The Society is also interested in the biogeographical implications of colonization and past history. From its inception, the Society published an annual Bulletin. In 2004, the twenty-eighth issue was produced. The series now contains an impressive data-base including information on biota outside Ireland. In 1986, a series of Occasional Publications was initiated. The seventh volume appeared in 2004. The Occasional Publications provide a useful means of publishing the proceedings of conferences or large articles on particular groups.

It is now timely to provide an easy method of accessing the information contained in the Society's publications. In the catalogue section of this volume, the various articles are listed. Each article has been given an unique identifying number in square brackets. In the index section, this number is used for cross reference. The index section also contains a list of the authors who have published articles. The Society is very grateful to all for their valuable contributions.

The Society maintains a full stock of its publications. Where issues have become exhausted, photocopies will be provided. The price of each Bulletin is the same as the annual subscription (€15 or £10). Reductions are given for large orders. Details of the Occasional Publications are given overleaf. Orders should be sent to the Irish Biogeographical Society, c/o Dr J. P. O'Connor, National Museum of Ireland, Kildare Street, Dublin 2, Ireland.

OCCASIONAL PUBLICATIONS OF THE IRISH BIOGEOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY

Number 1. Proceedings of The Postglacial Colonization Conference

D. P. Sleeman, R. J. Devoy and P. C. Woodman (editors)

Published 1986. 88pp. Price 4 euro*.

Number 2. Biogeography of Ireland: past, present and future

M. J. Costello and K. S. Kelly (editors)

Published 1993. 149pp. Price 15 euro*.

Number 3. A checklist of Irish aquatic insects

P. Ashe, J. P. O'Connor and D. A. Murray

Published 1998. 80pp. Price 7 euro*.

Number 4. A catalogue of the Irish Braconidae (Hymenoptera: Ichneumonoidea)

J. P. O'Connor, R. Nash and C. van Achterberg

Published 1999. 123pp. Price 6 euro*.

Number 5. The distribution of the Ephemeroptera in Ireland

M. Kelly-Quinn and J. J. Bracken

Published 2000. 223pp. Price 12 euro*.

Number 6. A catalogue of the Irish Chalcidoidea (Hymenoptera)

J. P. O'Connor, R. Nash and Z. Bouček

Published 2000. 135pp. Price 10 euro*.

Number 7. A catalogue of the Irish Platygastroidea and Proctotrupoidea (Hymenoptera)

J. P. O'Connor, R. Nash, D. G. Notton and N. D. M. Fergusson

Published 2004. 110pp. Price 10 euro*.

Freshwater pearl mussel, Margaritifera margaritifera, status: [288].

Gammarus duebeni and G. pulex, biogeography and current status: [287].

How could mammals become Irish?: [P8].

Immigration of non-marine Mollusca into late glacial Ireland: [P12].

Kilcolman National Nature Reserve, Lepidoptera: [300].

Lake-shore fens and reedbeds as habitat for Staphylinidae and Carabidae (Coleoptera): [355].

Lead mine tailings, recolonisation by Staphylinidae (Coleoptera); [274].

Lumbricid earthworms (Oligochaeta), observations on biogeography: [21].

Mammal mortality on roads: [318].

Management of oceanic blanket bog and its effect, implications for conservation of Carabus clathratus: [350].

Man's first appearance, Ireland, importance in colonization process: [P5].

Mollusca, recent and fossil of the Rivers Barrow, Nore and Suir: [164].

Mustelids, Ireland, multivariate morphometrics and biogeography: [P16].

Natterjack toad, Bufo calamita, origins, re-examination of subfossil bones, Carrowmore, Co. Sligo: [265]; Resurvey, biogeography and conservation: [264].

Origin of the Irish flora and fauna: [P2].

Phytoplankton distribution, biogeography related to physical oceanography: [P22].

Pleistocene mammals, Ireland: [P4].

Plight of invertebrates in Europe: [90].

Possible landbridges, Ireland and Britain geological appraisal: [P3].

Postglacial colonisation of Ireland by fish, amphibians and reptiles: [P9].

Postglacial Colonisation Conference: [75]; Conclusions: [P13]; Introduction: [P1].

Present status of the slow-worm Anguis fragilis: [284].

Recent record of woodlouse Acaeroplastes melanurus, (previously) considered extinct in British Isles: [320].

Restored meadows on rehabilitated cement kiln mounds, recolonisation by Staphylinidae (Coleoptera): [239].

Quaternary biogeography, climate, interglacial record, Ireland: [P15].

Sites of international and national importance for invertebrate fauna-a definition proposed for use in site surveys: [170].

Size, isolation and ancient status in woodland (beetles): [329].

Strawberry tree, Ireland, biogeographical implications of distribution and history: [P17].

Symposium, involuntary transport of plants and animals: [76]; [77].

Trigger Fish in Irish waters, biogeographical review: [P24].

Turlough pastures as a habitat for Staphylinidae and Carabidae (Coleoptera): [298].

Unique to County Cork, false scorpion Neobisium carpenteri: [360].

Use of invertebrates, exemplified by certain insect groups, in considering hypotheses about history of Irish postglacial fauna: [P10].

Work of the European Invertebrate Survey Committee: [104].

Zebra mussel Dreissena polymorpha extends range: [337].

BOOK REVIEWS

AA glovebox atlas Ireland: [205].

Alien grasses of the British Isles: [243].

Biological collections and biodiversity: [333].

Council of Europe: 2nd colloquy on computer applications in the field of nature conservation: [108].

In the field of the naturalists: [181].

Insects, plants and set-aside: [232].
